Wireworld® and Resolution Acoustics Partner for AXPONA 2015

First-of-its-kind dual room demo provides ultimate comparison

Chicago, IL—April 2015—Wireworld® Cable Technology, a respected manufacturer of high-performance audio and video cables is pleased to partner with Resolution Acoustics, manufacturer of patent-pending acoustic treatment systems, for a first-of-its-kind comparison demonstration in Rooms 412 and 413 at the 2015 AXPONA Show.

Resolution Acoustics is thrilled to unveil its new system of room acoustic treatments, featuring the amazing, patent-pending Towers. In what is believed to be a first for audio show demonstrations, attendees will be able to compare identical, adjoining rooms featuring identical systems of very respected high-end components. The only difference: One room will be treated with Resolution Acoustics' room-treatment system; the other room will be left untreated.

The demonstration will use two identical systems driven by a single stack of components. A brief playlist of edited high-resolution recordings will be fed by a Meitner MA-1 DAC to a Pass Labs XP-30 preamplifier via Wireworld interconnects. There the signal will be split and sent to a Pass Labs XA 100.5 power amplifier in each room, and then in turn to identical pairs of Sonus Faber Stradivari speakers. With the same recording playing simultaneously from the same source, through identical systems in identical rooms, attendees will be able to go from room to room, hearing for themselves what an extraordinary difference can be made by a properly designed system of custom-made acoustic room treatments—even with a system of this caliber.

For its part, Wireworld will provide for the dual systems: 35-foot runs of its Silver Eclipse 7 Balanced interconnects for the preamp outputs; Platinum Eclipse 7 speaker cables; Platinum Eclipse 7 interconnects between the source components and preamp; and Platinum Starlight 7 USB interconnect and Platinum Electra power cords.
